

International Summer School 2017

@BEIHANG University

Now, spend a summer in China!

Overview

BEIHANG University, formerly known as Beijing University of Aeronautics and Astronautics (BUAA), founded in 1952, is a top-class science and engineering research and education institution in China. This university has played a leading role in many academic fields, such as computer science, electronics and electrical engineering, aeronautic and astronautic science.

BEIHANG International Summer School is an important window for international exchange, providing the unique opportunity for undergraduates worldwide to study and work together for new knowledge, experience and insights.

Last year, we successfully held the International Summer School 2016. More than 280 foreign college students participated in this four-week program.

In 2017, we invite even more teachers from China and other parts of the world, and plan to offer over 80 courses to students all over the world from 3 July to 28 July. A preview of the course options is available on our official website:
